I Auman Machine Company Inc. is closely monitoring the evolving coronavirus (COVID-19) situation and the impact it has on our community. We share in the concern of the spread of the virus. Our employees', customers', and community's health and wellness are extremely important to us. We are taking all appropriate and responsible actions to ensure the safety of everyone involved in our business.

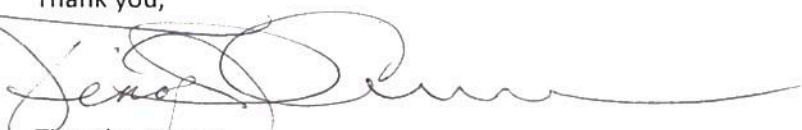

Auman Machine's primary focus is to continually provide our customers with machining solutions and giving them what they want when they want it while ensuring the wellbeing of our employees. We're closely monitoring local and national reports on the evolving impact of COVID-19, and based on guidance from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), we have shared best practice health tips with all employees.

Starting today, Monday 03/16/20, we will not allow any visitors of any kind to enter our building, nor will Auman Machine employees be visiting any businesses. As of right now we will continue to remain open to support our customers and continue to make deliveries of quality machined parts. We will perform these actions in a way that poses minimal risk to all parties.

We have been diligent in contacting our key strategic partners to determine any anticipated impact current conditions may have on the flow of product to the marketplace. Although there are no immediate threats to these supply lines, we are maintaining constant contact with our suppliers to monitor daily fluctuations.

Auman Machine will continue to make the best overall decisions based on changing conditions and recommendations by our national and local governments. Our employees and the support of your business operations will continue to be our top priority.

Thank you,

Timothy Auman
